

Integrated Care Hub: One-Year Community Update for Our Neighbours

It has been one year since our Open Houses, and we want to reconnect and share an update with those who live closest to the ICH.

As neighbours, we know that the activity around the Hub affects our shared community, and we appreciate the conversations, questions, and support you've offered throughout the year.

Thank you for staying engaged with us as we continue working toward a safe, welcoming neighbourhood for everyone.

What's New at the ICH

Throughout the past year, we've continued to adapt our services and space based on evolving needs and feedback from our staff, those who access our services, and our neighbours.

Some key updates include:

- Improvements to several service areas, including updates to the Rest Zone
- The Consumption and Treatment Services (CTS) team received a provincial award for excellence, and the site continues to offer life-saving drug testing in order to identify substances containing harmful poisons and divert individuals from emergency rooms
- Community programming and reflection opportunities, including events for the National Day for Truth & Reconciliation and Overdose Awareness Day
- A continued focus on client stories, resilience, and connection through our Heartbeat of the Hub blog series
- Increased opportunities for volunteers to support the people and services at the ICH

These updates help strengthen both our internal operations and our connection to the wider community we're part of.

What We've Been Working On Together

Over the past year, we have focused on strengthening communication and collaboration, especially with those who live nearby. Highlights of these efforts include:

- Nine meetings of the Community Engagement Committee (CEC), which includes input from community members and partners
- Development of the CEC Terms of Reference to support a clear and transparent structure
- Creation of a Neighbourhood Communication Guide, helping our neighbours connect with the right support when it is needed
- A new process for neighbours and community members to join the CEC and participate in ongoing dialogue

These steps reflect our ongoing effort to create avenues for connection and constructive communication with those who share this neighbourhood.

Staying Connected as Neighbours

We want to ensure that those living in the vicinity have easy access to information and ways to stay involved.
